CITY TRAFFIC DEATHS DROP

5 of Ohio's Largest Centers Report 1947 Toll Less Than 1946.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 27—Five large Ohio cities—Cleveland, Akron, Columbus, Toledo and Dayton—today reported decreases in traffic fatalities so far this year compared with 1946.

In two other big cities Cincinnati and Canton, traffic fatalities were up over a year ago.

Cleveland leads in traffic death reduction with 22 fewer fatalities to date this year than in 1946. Its traffic fatalities through Dec. 25, 1947, totaled 94 compared with 116 in 1946. Persons injured in traffic accidents in Cleveland this year totaled 3,255 compared with 3,047 in 1946.

Akron ranked next to Cleveland with a reduction of 15 in its list of traffic fatalities so far in 1947 —32 compared with 47 in 1946.

No Holiday Fatalities

Akron went through 1947 without a traffic fatality on any of the six principal holidays—New Year's day, Memorial day, Independence day, Labor day, Thanksgiving and Christmas. On Christmas day, however, a man died of injuries suffered in an accident that occurred on Dec. 15.

The death of Ralph J. Peterhoff, 26, who had served as a motorcyclist in Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army in Europe, marked the end of a 69-day period in Akron without a single traffic fatality. He was injured when an automobile hit his motorcycle.

Among the larger cities of the state, Toledo claimed a record of going 70 days without a traffic fatality.

Akron reported, however, a decrease in the number of traffic injuries this year. The list of injured during 1947 to date totaled 1,750 compared with 1,351 in 1946.

In Toledo, through Dec. 25, there had been 477 traffic fatalities, nine less than were killed through all of 1946. The injured, however, exceeded 1946. The total for this year stood at 2,161 as compared with 2,085 last year.

Cincinnati Toll Higher

In Cincinnati, traffic deaths to date totaled 73 compared with 62 last year. Cincinnati had 7,588 traffic accidents this year with 2,406 injured compared with 6,708 accidents and 2,252 injured last year.

Columbus reported 46 killed and 1,808 injured in traffic accidents so far this year compared with 49 killed and 1,754 injured last year.

Traffic accidents in Dayton so far this year resulted in 40 killed and 469 injured compared with 50 killed and 376 injured in 1946.

In Canton, 21 persons were killed and 711 injured in traffic accidents through Dec. 25 this year compared with 13 killed and 574 injured last year.

PLASTIC MATERIAL USED FOR BONES

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 27—Temporary plastic-substance replacements for human bone have been developed in research sponsored by the U. S. Navy, the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told today.

Captain C. W. Shilling, chief of the medical sciences program of the Office of Naval Research (ONR) reporting on some of the developments in American research institutions on projects aided by Navy funds, told the association's 114th meeting in a prepared address:

"A successful method has been devised of replacement of diseased bones with inactive plastic substances, thus enabling the early rehabilitation of the patients, while the (plastic) materials are being replaced by normal tissue."

He gave no amplification of the technique, but added:

"The use of this (plastic) material for the devising of an artificial joint seems to be a definite possibility."

Thousands Stranded by Storm Spend Night in Trains, Autos

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—Thousands of residents of the metropolitan area had a night out last night but even those with a bit of the playboy in them didn't relish the experience.

They spent the night huddled together in cold railroad trains stalled in the suburbs because of the record 25.8-inch snowfall, packed into the terminal building at La Guardia field, or nearly buried in snow banks into which automobiles skidded.

The Long Island railroad this morning began a census of its trains, attempting to trace several which left Pennsylvania station last night and had not reached their destinations.

Four hundred pasengers who left Penn station at 10 o'clock last night on a 20-minute trip to Flushing, Queens, arrived within sight of the Main street, Flushing, station after 8 a. m. today.

Most of the passengers, who had been packed in seven cars, negotiated the last three blocks on foot—those who wouldn't walk were, at last reports, still enroute to Flushing.

Another Long Island train was marooned somewhere between Baldwin and Rockville Centre and still others were reported stalled between Floral Park and Hempstead and near Valley Stream.

Three plane loads of outbound passengers spent the night at the domestic air terminal at La Guardia field when their flights were canceled. The conditions of airport roads made it impossible to take them to hotels.

Hundreds of airline employes stranded in Jackson Heights, Queens, when buses were unable to make the airport were picked up later by airline trucks.

MOVE TO RESCUE WOMEN, CHILDREN

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 27—Police and firemen broke a frozen trail today to rescue women and children Police Chief John Haller said may run "to the hundreds" who have been marooned "hungry and freezing" all night in cars and buses by a record-shattering snow storm.

Emergency crews ploughed through the drifting snow on foot, bringing coffee and food. Shelters were readied in precinct police stations to receive the refugees stranded on U. S. route 1 between Elizabeth and Jersey City.

"We haven't been able to get through with heavy motor ploughs because of the stalled cars and buses," Haller said. "But we've got jeeps in there now, and we're ploughing as far as we can, and the men are going on by foot."

Haller said the fire department and Red Cross were providing packets of hot beverages and food for the marooned parties.

"We don't know just how many there are, but there are a number of buses, and each of them probably has 30 persons or more in it," Haller said.

Meanwhile the Long Branch observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau said the snow reached a record depth of 30 inches there, apparently the hardest-hit spot in the smothered northeast.

The N. J. Bell Telephone company reported today that more than 6,000,000 calls were placed yesterday, a record in the firm's history.

N. Y. Mayor Slowed Up on Trip Home

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 27—New York Mayor James O'Dwyer, hurrying by plane from California to his snow-stricken city, stopped off here today and said he hoped someone would meet him with his galoshes and great coat.

As he stepped off the plane, a bright sun and early morning temperature of 46 degrees greeted him.

"What is the weather in New York?" he asked ticket clerk Bob McConnell.

"Sir," answered McConnell, "we are sorry but you will have to continue your trip home via Chicago, Buffalo and probably train. The weather in New York City is not what we consider good."

SAYS U.S. DEPT. ERRED IN PANAMA

By The Associated Press

PANAMA, Panama, Dec. 27—Ricardo J. Alfaro, recently-resigned foreign minister of Panama, has accused the state department of the United States of committing three "fundamental errors" in negotiating for the defense-base agreement.

The agreement was rejected last Monday by the Panamanian national assembly.

Alfaro, expressing his views in an interview yesterday, said the state department made the following "errors":

▶Failure to express categorically its position on expiration of a 1942 defense-base agreement.

▶"Insistence on introducing clauses, phrases and words which tended to assert powers and privileges of the United States and diminish Panama's sovereignty."

▶A tendency to make the agreement on the bases—intended for defense of the Panama canal—a permanent instrument.

Alfaro, who quit the cabinet in protest against the signing of the agreement, declared however, that U. S. troop withdrawal from Panamanian bases was a conclusion which was "honorable for Panama and honorable for the United States." The U. S. withdrawal is now under way.

OFFICAL SEES NO 1948 RISE IN BUILDING COST

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—Building materials will be more plentiful and construction costs are not likely to rise next year, J. W. Follin, assistant federal works agency administrator, said today.

He predicted that new construction would be six to nine per cent above this year, for a total of $13,700,000,000. Follin forecast a "moderate" increase in home building, an a 20 to 25 per cent jump in public construction.

Federally-financed work will fall behind state and local work, he said. State and local projects will go up as much as 25 per cent for a total of $2,345,000,000, and federal works up to 20 per cent for a total of $1,355,000,000, he predicted.

CARPENTERS' WAGE SCALE UNCHANGED

Union Reports Pay Rate To Remain at Present Figure.

The scale of union carpenters affiliated with Carpenters Union, Local No. 976, (AFL) will remain at the present figure it was announced today. Decision to keep the prevailing scale was made at a meeting of the local held recently in the Carpenters Union hall at 146½ South Main street.

The matter of wages was discussed as was present conditions. It was brought out that due to unstable conditions prices of materials are unpredictable, thereby preventing contractors to bid on jobs with any degree of assurance that prices can be met or the work completed at the figures quoted. In an effort to cooperate with contractors and as a gesture towards stabilization the carpenters affiliated with the union voted to maintain the present scale, a spokesman for the organization said today. Figures presented at the meeting showed that the scale in several other cities in the state are higher.

Russian Threat Seen in Greece

Expect Soviet Recognition of Rebel Regime; May Call for More U. S. Aid.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—Several members of congress predicted today that Russia will increase pressure on Greece by extending official recognition to a new "independent Communist" regime in the northern part of the Mediterranean nation.

Some said the result may be a call for more American millions to shore up Greek resistance to Communism. Rep. Nixon (R-Calif) guessed the administration might ask as much as $400,000,000.

This would be in addition to the $300,000,000 Greek share of the $400,000,000 congress appropriated last spring to stiffen resistance against Soviet encroachment in Greece and Turkey.

Rep. Teague (D-Tex), one of those who thinks Russian recognition of the new "state" will be the next move dictated by Moscow, told a reporter the situation would never have developed if "the Greek army had made a decent effort to clear up that guerrilla situation."

Markos Vifiades, leader of the forces fighting the Greek government in the north, proclaimed by radio Wednesday the creation of an independent Communist state but did not name the boundaries or capital.

Rep. Jonkman (R-Mich), a member of the house foreign affairs committee, said the announcement of a new Communist state "has been cooking for some time and Russian recognition is the next logical step."

Rep. Engel (R-Mich), who is on the appropriations committee, said if additional money is requested for Greece, America's decision should be governed by the "overall picture" of this nation's security requirements.

"We aren't to be bluffed or run out of Greece by those Communists in the north," Engel declared.

Expect Greek Law Banning Communists

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, Dec. 27—The government, reacting to the proclamation of a Greek Communist state, reportedly was planning to rush through a new law today outlawing the Communist party.

Government forces in northern and west central Greece meanwhile, were holding off Communist-led guerrillas who attacked in strength yesterday.

Authoritative sources said the artillery fire power of the northern guerrillas greatly exceeded the Army's. Premier Theistokles Sophoulis told United States Charge D'Affaires Karl Rankin last night the Greek army needed strengthening.

Informants said the law against the Communist party also would outlaw the EAM (National Liberation Front) and certain other leftist groups.

The coordinating council, legislating while parliament is in recess, will approve it this noon, they said, and make it effective within 10 minutes by publishing it in the government Gazette.

Legal experts said the measure would be based on a similar law enacted under the late Premier Eleutherios Venizelos but not enforced in recent years, and its penalties would be stiffer.

Yesterday's unsuccessful guerrilla attacks were aimed at Konitsa, some five miles south of Albanian border, and Agrinion, 100 miles south of Konitsa on the main road northward. The drive on Konitsa was believed to be aimed at establishing the town as the capital of the newly proclaimed Communist government.

The Army's Konitsa garrison was said to have withstood about 2,000 guerrillas who launched their heaviest attack in two days. Brig. Constantine Dovas, wounded in one of the earlier attacks, was reported by authoritative sources to have commanded the defense from a hospital bed.

Marshall To Direct Paying Stopgap Aid

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—Secretary of State Marshall has been appointed by President Truman to supervise expenditure of $522,000,000 in stopgap aid for France, Austria and Italy.

Under legislation passed at the special session the three nations will receive mostly food, fuel and other living necessities to see them through the winter.

A White House executive order issued late yesterday also authorized Marshall to direct use of $18,000,000 which the same bill provided for China.

STORM KILLS 49 IN PHILIPPINES; 32 DIE ON SHIP

29 of 61 Passengers Aboard Kina Reported Safe; Report of Deaths Incomplete.

By The Associated Press

MANILA, Dec. 27—The toll of dead and missing—including 32 of the 61 persons who were aboard the sunk motorship Kina—stood at 49 tonight as the Philippines mopped up after its worst December typhoon in three decades.

Twenty-nine of those aboard the Kina, a Danish ship which sank in Samar sea after grounding during the typhoon Christmas night, were reported safe. There was no word of the other 32, who attempted to ride out the storm in lifeboats and on pieces of wreckage.

Press reports listed eleven killed at LaGuna, where an entire family was blown into LaGuna bay with their house; five in Manila and one in Cavite.

There was no word of casualties in other sections traversed by the 120-mile-an-hour storm, but communications still were so disrupted that days may pass before a complete check is possible.

The bureau of posts reported telegraphic communications with only five provincial cities had been reestablished and that 15 of its radio transmitters were out.

Damage in Millions

The reports of damage ran into untold millions, with most of the coconut and sugar crops ruined in LaGuna province, 80 per cent of the buildings gone at Santa Cruz and 500 houses destroyed at Catbalogan, capital of Samar.

Normal air schedules were expected to be restored by Monday.

Several ships delayed by the storm, including the U. S. Army transport General Meigs, with 1,361 passengers, arrived today.

The East Asiatic Co. reported the rescue of Kina survivors, including three American women, all employes of the U. S. Army department, who were traveling from Shanghai to the Far East and to Europe.

The company, agents for the Kina, made the report after an exchange of messages with the motorship Samuel Bakke, anchored at Calbayog, Samar island. The Bakke earlier had erroneously reported that all but five aboard the Kina had reached shore, then messaged a correction.

Chief Officer F. L. W. Dalberg of the Kina reported, the company said, a total of 12 passengers and 17 crew members were safe.

Capt. Aage Hjernum, 30 other crewmen and one passenger were listed as missing.

Manila Hit Hard

The typhoon, with winds which rose to 120 miles an hour, uprooted trees, flattened power and telephone lines and blew off roofs in Manila, where five persons were killed and at least 20 were injured.

In all, 20 ships in Philippine waters reported damage. Some were in Manila bay when the typhoon struck.

Big Clark air field, 50 miles north of Manila, suffered extensive damage.

Referendum Sought On Tax on Payrolls

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 27—Petitions asking a referendum on the city's one-half per cent payroll-income tax were filed today by representatives of labor groups, and City Council President Joseph R. Jones said the council "welcomes this referendum."

Filing of the petitions, bearing 9,000 signatures, was the first step in placing the tax ordinance before the voters. City election ordinances will permit the special election to be held late in February.

The ordinance, calculated to produce $3,000,000 annually for Columbus' general fund, was approved by the city council to become effective Jan. 1.

The petitions were filed by Paul J. McCarthy Sr., president and Robert W. Greer, vice president of the Columbus Federation of Labor, and William Spratley Jr., president of the Columbus CIO council.

Christmas Blaze Adds To Trouble Of Marion Co. Man

Special to The Star

LARUE, Dec. 27—Fire partially destroyed the home of William Christian on route 95, three miles east of here at 10 p. m. yesterday. While Christian was asleep in a chair in his living room, alone, except for the presence of a dog, fire broke out in the corner of the room where a Christmas tree was located. The barking of the dog awoke him. The LaRue fire department was called and extinguished the flames after running water from a cistern in the back yard and a nearby well. Christian had removed most of the clothing in the house, but the funiture was badly damaged by the flames and the water.

Christian had moved to the property only a few months ago from southern Ohio. The house belonged to Frances K. and Shelma Lehmann of Bexley. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

This was the second misfortune of the week for Christian. Only Tuesday night Christmas presents and food were stolen from their car while it was parked in Marion following a shopping trip. Articles stolen from the car were valued at $32.

NORTON TO RETIRE AS CITY POLICEMAN

Patrolman on Force 20 Years To Retire Dec. 31.

Application of Fred C. Norton for retirement as a Marion city patrolman was accepted last night at a meeting of the police pension board.

Norton's retirement will be effective Dec. 31. He joined the department Jan. 1, 1928, and has served 20 years continuously as a patrolman, much of the time in the business district.

He has no plans for the immediate future. The Norton home is on Boone avenue.

Attending the pension board meeting for the last time were two council members, Clarence Salter, Third ward, and J. Malcolm Severns, councilman-at-large. Their terms as council members expire Dec. 31. They will be replaced on the pension board when council meets to reorganize Jan. 1.

No action was taken on the pension payroll for retired police department members since the fund was exhausted with a partial payment in November. On the rolls now are 11 retired police officers, two widows and one minor child of a former department member.

Condition of Pastor No Longer Serious

"No longer serious" was the word today from Chicago on the condition of Rev. S. M. Firestone of Marengo, injured in a traffic accident at Chicago Dec. 16. The word came from the hospital where he is being treated through a news release from The Associated Press. It was stated that Rev. Firestone, pastor of the Marengo and Fulton Methodist churches, was permitted today to be up in a wheel chair, but the time when he will be able to leave the hospital has not been indicated as yet.

GOV. HERBERT PETITIONS OUT

Announces Second Term Candidacy; State Committee To Meet Jan. 7.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 27—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert will run for a second term.

The Ohio Republican standard bearer made this decision known officially last night by announcing he would sign acceptance blanks on nominating petitions to be filed with the secretary of state by Feb. 4 to place his name on the party ballot for the May 4 primary.

"We told the printers to date the petitions tomorrow," the governor said in a telephone conversation last night.

He added he would sign the petitions as soon as they are received and that it appeared probable the petitions would arrive at his office today.

Another Republican, Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins, earlier said he would place petitions for renomination in circulation tomorrow. Jenkins now is serving his second term.

Governor Herbert's admission he would seek reelection surprised practically no one.

Backed by Committees

For days now, county Republican central committees throughout the state have heralded that announcement with resolutions backing the state's chief executive for a return engagement.

No powerful organized opposition to the governor's renomination apparently exists.

County support has been snowballing and the one congressional district—the nine-county Seventh—already is publicly in the Herbert fold.

Experienced observers declare the Ohio Republican executive and central committee will endorse formally Governor Herbert, Attorney General Jenkins, Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert, State Treasurer Don Ebright and Secretary of Mr. Norris had been visiting at the home of his parents, Rush and Amber Norris of four miles southeast of Norton for several days. He is married and has one child. Other survivors include two brothers, Max and Robert Norris at home.

THOUSANDS AT WORK CLEARING CITY'S STREETS

25.8 Inch Fall Puts Health and Safety of 8 Millions in Jeopardy.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 — New York began burrowing out from the greatest snowfall in the city's history today as top city officials went into emergency session to plan measures to "protect the health and welfare" of its 8,000,000 inhabitants.

Thousands of city employes using more than 1,400 pieces of equipment and thousands of contract workers and trucks worked through the night and morning but failed to make more than a dent in the record 25.8 inch snow which completely disrupted transportation facilities and imperiled deliveries of fuel and food.

Commissioner of Hospitals Edward M. Bernecker said only eight ambulances were operating in Brooklyn, with a population of 2,700,000, and that he planned to appeal to the Red Cross and the army for equipment. He described the situation in Queens as 'bad."

Acting Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri said as the meeting started that particular emphasis would be placed on "police, fire, food and shelter."

City Taken by Surprise

The storm, sweeping in with surprise fury early yesterday, surpassed the 20.9-inch downfall left by the famous blizzard of 1888. It pelted the area with an average hourly fall of 1.8 inches and ended officially after 15 hours and 45 minutes.

At least 35 persons lost their lives in the storm belt which embraced parts of New England, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and southeastern New York and extended south to include Washington, D. C.

New Jersey, where 30 inches of snow was officially reported in Long Branch, counted 12 dead, and New York nine.

Connecticut reported five deaths, Pennsylvania, two; Massachusetts, three, Rhode Island, two and New Hampshire, two.

The Long Island railroad, transportation link between the city and Nassau and Suffolk counties, was hardest hit by the storm. Steam locomotives were operating but the electrically operated sections of the railroad were badly disrupted. Hundreds of passengers were stranded in trains during the freezing night.

Buses between New York and New Jersey were operating only on main highways. The Hudson tubes, connecting Newark, Jersey City and New York were reported still out at 10 a. m. but the Pennsylvania railroad said it was operating to New Jersey.

More Cold Is Forecast

The forecast for today and tomorrow was cloudy and cold. Below-freezing temperatures complicated efforts of workers to clear some of the city's main thoroughfares.

Bus service still was paralyzed and the board of transportation said service on subway lines running in open cuts and surface lines were suspended today.

All 840 buses on 33 lines of the New York City Omnibus company and the Fifth Avenue Coach Company were out of service.

New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer cutting short a vacation at El Centro, Calif., boarded a plane at Los Angeles today to return to Manhattan. It was reported city crews will clear runways for his scheduled 6:40 p. m. landing at La Guardia field.

The storm centered in the Metropolitan area.

Makes Name for Itself

Technically not a blizzard, since it was unaccompanied by high winds and near-zero temperatures, the snowfall wrought sufficient havoc during the day to insure itself a legendary role in New York weather history.

It slowed and in some cases stopped railroad transportation.

Virtually all bus lines, interstate and local, were brought to a dead standstill.

Nearly all transient harbor craft either dropped anchor in the snow curtain or remained tied fast to their piers, while ferry boats, a commutation lifeline, groped hoarsely through the pelting flakes, 10 minutes to a half hour behind schedule.

Transportation Delayed

The city's subway and elevated lines lagged well behind schedule and home-bound throngs, as a result, jammed their terminals.

The Hudson tubes which connect this city to New Jersey points via the tunnels under the Hudson river, the ferry houses and rail and bus stations were filled to overflowing.

The city's usually congested streets still were congested—but

UNCOVER RING TO AID NAZIS

Police Investigate Effort To Carry Sympathizers to Argentina.

By International News Service

STOCKHOLM—A Scandinavian-wide movement which is gathering former Nazi sympathizers for travel to Argentina, operates its own underground, falsifies passports, and even owns its own ship, is in the process of being uncovered.

Recently, so many angles of the operations of this huge network have been uncovered that the complete ramifications are not even yet clear. Police are frantically attempting to find where one angle fits into another.

The "ring" has its lines extended from Germany through every country in Scandinavia and on into Argentina. Whether or not it is just one line of a vast organization whose network covers all Europe and especially those ports of exit, is not yet known.

At least Swedish police assert it is the biggest and most elaborate organization yet uncovered in this part of the world.

Even today, the police of Scandinavia are conferring with each other and putting together the jigsaw bits of revelations, arrests, etcetera, as they occur in each country, to piece this puzzle together.

Meanwhile, the public prosecutor attached to the Swedish state police headquarters has received a message threatening him with death if he proceeds further in the case. In Norway an underground radio station has blared forth with the defiant assertion that Nazism will flourish in their new "home in South America."

First Indication

The first indication that they might be handling something "big" came when Swedish police arrested several individuals for preparing and selling false passports. At the same time a German scientist was arrested at the Copenhagen airport just as he was about to board a plane for Argentina. He confessed he had been smuggled into Denmark with the help of a Swedish group who prepared the passport found in his possession.

The Swedish police, thus tipped off by the Danish agents, attached new importance to the personnel they had under arrest and after diligent questioning moved forward to arrest an Argentine visitor, who entered Sweden last summer and posed as a businessman.

It was learned then that this individual had aided mightily in the rounding up of former Nazi sympathizers in Scandinavia for the purpose of sending them on to Argentina. This man now is under police custody until they escort him out of the country.

Meanwhile the German scientist—said by police to be a foremost scientist in Germany—revealed that one of his German colleagues already had reached Argentina by the same method and that 15 were waiting to go.

Norway Police Investigating

The police in Norway also were investigating. They arrested six individuals who confessed a connection with the Swedish and Danish "rings" and also conceded the Argentine "businessman" from Sweden had been in constant contact with them. They also admitted they specialized in aiding Nazis—former Quislings—in leaving the country.

Police likewise found that a former German officer, an SS officer at that, who had been stationed in Sweden during the war and still resided here, had purchased a military vessel now converted into a steamer for the purpose of hauling the illegal parties sent out by the false-passport groups.

Next in the revelations were the activities of seven German officers, who, residing just across the Danish line in Germany, entered the little country every day as employes of the Danish government under an agreement between Denmark and the allies.

Crossed Border Often

These men had crossed the border so often to pursue their duties that frontier guards no longer troubled to search them or their vehicle. They actually were smuggling Nazis across the border in Denmark where Danish members of the ring got them on the way to South America.

Said Commissioner Danielsson of the Swedish state police:

"There seems little doubt that all the activities discovered in the various Scandinavian countries are linked together. Their activities, as we have discovered thus far, extend even into Germany.

"There is little doubt that at least individual citizens of Argentina have interested themselves both actively and financially, in the efforts conducted in Scandinavia by members of the smuggling, false passport and other groups. One might have every reason to suppose this ring, or rings, are but part of a large organization."

Philadelphia Faces Serious Oil Problem

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27 — A acute shortage of oil today threatened to close down the Philadelphia gas works and leave more than 500,000 industrial and home consumers without gas.

Hudson W. Reed, president of the company, said yesterday that the company's oil supplies have been unable to meet an increased demand for fuel oil and that unless present supplies are increased immediately, the gas company will be out of oil by Feb. 4.

Reed asserted that if it is necessary to close down the plant the first step would be to cut off all supplies to industrial users.

The crisis faced by the company Reed said, is the most serious in 50 years. He said oil on hand was down to 7,000,000 gallons as compared to an annual need of 115,000,000 gallons.

Letters from Our Readers

OPPOSED TO U. M. T.

Editor of The Star I noticed your recent editorial in favor of universal military training for young men in this country. It ought to be mentioned that a number of national organizations such as the Grange, the Farm Bureau the C. I. O., the P-T A., National Catholic Women's Union, A. F. of L., Railroad Brotherhoods, Federal Council of Churches, etc, have gone on record in opposition to universal military training I also would like to speak in opposition to it

The future welfare of our nation is dependent upon youth possessing spiritual foundations which are Christian and which stem largely from home, school, and church environment and for which military service has no adequate counterpart To take every boy at the age of 18 and force him to leave home for a years military training would not only put him in an unhealthy atmosphere for moral and spiritual development, but would plant in his mind seeds of militaristic and materialistic philosophy. Let us not forget that our nation was founded by people who were trying to get away from the military tyranny and the militaristic philosophy of Europe Its government structure was wisely devised to keep the military out of political control, subordinate to the civilian elected leadership. The adoption of peacetime conscription under the guise of universal military training will be the longest step away from that conception of democracy the country has ever taken

Some are arguing that U M T is needed for national defense But let us remember that with the strongest naval and air fleets in the world and with the atomic bomb, this country is already better equipped for military action than any country on earth

The United Nations was set up to build the sort of an international structure where all nations will be safe from aggressors For this country to launch a new program of military training would be a blunt way of stating to the world that we don't believe the United Nations will work The U N WILL work if the United States wills that it work'

Well sir!
Why let such pleasant fancies be passing fancies only?
Why know Buick only from the sidewalk, when every day that passes could be bringing you nearer to owning one?

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

FROM long experience I know that Katharine never speaks of a patient's condition without deep and extensive pre-thought, and because of that, her pronouncement on Mary lifted my spirits immeasurably.

"If you could know my relief at those words coming from you," I said, stressing the last word, and she gave me one of her heartening gamin grins.

"I think you know me well enough to realize that Pollyana isn't exactly my nom de plume," she said. "And I do know exactly how you feel. That's the reason I've spooned this particular appetizer to you. It will make your dinner go down better."

"It's better than a caviar canape," I said extravagantly.

"Than which there could be no whicher," she said with another grin, for she knows my weakness. "But, seriously, I want you to stop worrying about Mary. As I said, this business of Georges is the one thing needed to set her up again in even better shape than she was before she had that pneumonia attack which sent her to the sanitarium. She was running down hill fast, you know, between Noel's vagaries and the demands of her position as a Veritzen star.

"But she's all set for the comeback now," she went on. "'I predict,'" she quoted with a grin, "that she and your new play will score an even greater knock-out than the last one did."

"You are the 'heartenest critter,'" I told her affectionately.

"'Tanks for dem kind vords,'" she mocked, then changed immediately to sober scrutiny of me.

"Back to my room," she said in the tone of a top sergeant, "and stay there until I give you permission to come out. I will accompany the waiter over with a tray of dinner for you, and Dicky may bring Faith over to say good night—and au revoir before she goes to bed. And about nine-thirty, before Mary turns in for the night, I'll let you come back here, collect your things for the journey, hear Mary's last suggestions for pulverizing Georges, and take the Dicky-bird back with you for a few pre-journey chirpings. What time do you think your caravan will start?"

"Not earlier than half after eleven," I told her.

"Will your father telephone you first?" she asked.

"No, indeed," I told her. "He won't risk that. Some one will come up to see me, if possible, he will come himself."

"Then you would better be back here ready to go, at eleven," she said.

"I'll be ready from half after nine, on," I told her.

"Good girl!" she commended. "Then, if somebody comes back before eleven, I can phone you, and your affectionate spouse can bring you over here, ready for the trek."

I looked at her curiously.

"Why the insistence upon banishing me from my own hearthside?" I asked.

"Because mine is so much better for you," she said coolly. "You'll have enough on hand in the next twenty-four hours to tax every ounce of physical, mental and spiritual strength you have. You don't need a family dinner, nor Faith's devilishly artless questioning, nor Mary's outbursts about Georges. You don't need even my inspiring conversation, nor too much of Dicky's, although I'll be lenient in his direction. What you need, my good woman, is rest, and that's what you're going to get.

"I'm offering you the hospitality of my nightie, dressing gown and slippers again," she finished. "You needn't sleep if you don't feel like it, but if you do, I'll be the only one to disturb you. I'll let myself in a few minutes before the waiter is due with your dinner, so you'll be decorously clad. Here's my spare key. Now scoot!"

I obeyed her willingly, for the prospect of my night vigil over Georges was troubling me more than I would have been willing to admit, even to Katharine. I "scooted" accordingly followed her instructions meticulously, started to read, awakened from a momentary doze by the dropping of the magazine, switched off the reading lamp, tried to speculate on what the night would hold for me, and knew nothing more until Katharine's fingers on my wrist roused me.

"You've been a very good little girl," she said, "and if you'll get into my dressing gown and slippers, and twist up your hair nicely, I'll have the waiter bring you something nice to eat."

Would Have Invaded Earlier, Stimson Says

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—Former Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson in his wartime biography, "On Active Service," wrote that if he or George Marshall had been the American commander-in-chief "the invasion of France would have been launched in 1943, one year earlier than it actually occurred.

"Would the war have been ended sooner?" he conjected. "This is a problem in a dozen unknowns. No certain answer is possible, and the matter is here left open."

But Stimson declared that President Roosevelt's decision to land an Allied force in North Africa in the fall of 1942 was disapproved at the time both by Stimson and the American war department staff.

The first installment of his biography written in collaboration with McGeorge Bundy of Harvard university, appears in the January issue of the Ladies' Home Journal.

Two Plant Papers Carry News Of Activities in Marion Shops

Christmas editions of trade and employe magazines published by two Marion industries, "the Huber News" and "the Cooler News," were issued recently by the Huber Mfg. Co. and the Universal Cooler division of the International Detrola Corp.

Both magazines contain Christmas messages — for the Huber Co. by Don A. Howard, president and general manager, and for the Cooler by F. S. McNeal, general manager.

Pictures of Huber road maintainers, one at work in Buenos Aires, Argentina, and the other in Robertson county, Tenn., are included in the Huber magazine. A fleet of six maintainers is used by the Tennessee county. The first Huber machine was on the job in Tennessee in April, 1947. Cecil Walker, chairman of the Robertson county highway commission and supervisor of the work of the maintainers, personally owns a Huber maintainer which he uses on his farm.

A group of eight pictures in the magazine, along with a descriptive story, is a photo study of a key department of the Huber plant, the sheet metal department. It is an organization of 16 men, under the direction of Foreman Howard Hare.

Employes Pictured

The employes of the department pictured are Carl Ackerman, Ernest Zeller (39 years of service with the company), Clifford Seiter, inspector, Clyde Bollinger, Robert Emery, Wilbert Gattshall, Roy Bowers, Gardner Wilson (38-year service record), David Hord, Thomas Clark, Wayne Coulson (24 years), Lester Barrett, Arthur Foulke, Leslie Bunnell, William Levien (24 years), and Bert Harper.

The Huber news also carries an article with picture, about J. S. Taylor, an employe of the machine repair department, who is an amateur watchmaker with an inventive flair. Since going to work at the Huber plant six years ago, Mr. Taylor has remedied the ills of countless watches of Huberites. Several weeks ago, he was in the final stages of developing a new-type watch cleaner which operates on the agitator principle. Mr. Taylor also collects timepieces and has assembled between "20 and 25" watches, the oldest of which is a key-winding type that was made over 65 years ago.

Also included, in the sports section of the magazine, are photos of two of the plants bowling teams, one of which is tied for first place and the other which is in the cellar position. Members of the team in first place, No. 6 team, are Louis Keefer, Ernie Farst, Les Bunnell, captain, Paul Bigley and Connie Gibson. The cellar position team, No. 1 team, is composed of Ruth Orthmeyer, Tiny Orthmeyer, captain, Charm McCrery, Ellsworth Bailey and Larry Weiser. The leading woman kegler in the Huber league, Jean Leser, also is pictured.

Mr. McNeal, vice president of Detrola International and general manager of the Universal Cooler division, in a message published in the Cooler News, commented on development in the plant during the past year and looked ahead into a promising outlook for the future.

Explain Education Program

A new education program for customers, parts jobbers and refrigeration groups, to better acquaint the entire refrigeration service industry with the division's products, sales, and service policies, is explained in the magazine.

A tribute is paid in the magazine to the five men of the Universal Cooler who were war casualties, and Marion county's public tribute to all men and women who served in the recent war, the honor roll at the courthouse, is shown. The five men who gave their lives are Clifford S. Long, Harold R. Lessig, Paul Ebert, John P. Rosman and F. Flockencier Jr.

Pictures of K. C. Goodrich, recently advanced to the position of sales representative for several states west of the Mississippi, and of Ben W. Wiant, advanced to the position of manager of the sales order department, the office which Mr. Goodrich previously held, also appear.

A recent visit to the Marion plant made by W. A. Pruett, design engineer of the Weber Showcase Co. of Los Angeles, Calif., is reviewed. It was Mr. Pruett's first visit here in three years. Mr. Pruett, who has a profitable hobby, that of growing orchids, is shown in a photo in the magazine with J. P. Scott, director of sales for the Universal Cooler, and Carlos Hatcher, advertising and sales promotion manager.

The five officers of the recently organized Old Timers' club of the Universal Cooler, also are pictured, along with a story telling of the club. The officers are Dan Medici, president, Tom Pendergast, first vice president, Andy Etewart, second vice president, Harold Roat, secretary, and Pete Joyce, treasurer.

Whitney Would Restore Wartime Profits Tax

By The United Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27 — Reenactment of the wartime excess profits tax was urged Friday by A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, as one step in a program to protect consumers against rising living costs.

Whitney said his recommendations were based on a study of the BRT Public Affairs Institute and offered as an "antidote to the do-nothing to help the consumer, do everything to help the privileged" program of the NAM.

Other BRT proposals included authorization of consumer rationing and price ceiling for scare products, mandatory 25 per cent roll-backs in food prices and other price reductions on industrial products and raw materials.

TEN AUTOS INVOLVED IN FIVE ACCIDENTS

One Mishap Near Mt. Gilead Damages Four Cars.

Five traffic accidents involving 10 vehicles, one of them a four-car collision, resulted in slight injury to one man near Marion yesterday as melting snow glazed highways, the state highway patrol reported.

The four-car accident occurred on route 42 about 1½ miles east of Mt. Gilead at 2:30 p. m. yesterday and involved cars driven by Harley Tischer, 50, of near Mt. Gilead, Dale Haywood, 25, of Columbus, Harold Seiple, 42, of Columbus, and Walter Milley, 65, of Cleveland. Tischer was going west but stopping to make a left turn, Haywood was also going west, and the other two drivers were headed east when they all collided. No one was injured, but all four cars were damaged, the Seiple car considerably in the rear.

Sage Howard, 26, of near Blooming Grove, O., suffered lacerations on the face and leg when the car he was driving and a truck driven by Vincent Kennedy, 25, of Mansfield, collided while passing on a narrow bridge seven miles north of Galion on route 598 at 2:15 p. m. yesterday. Howard's automobile was demolished and the truck was damaged on the left side.

Curtiss W. Shappard, 42, of 713 Hoyle street, lost control of the car he was driving while rounding an icy curve on route 30-S 2½ miles east of Caledonia at 10:45 a. m. yesterday and hit a guard rail, damaging the car.

Philip Cantlery, 49, of Cleveland, lost control of his car while driving west on icy route 42 about three miles west of Cardington at 9:15 p. m. yesterday and ran into a hedge fence on the farm of Carl Lampher of near Cardington, tearing out about two rods of fence and damaging his car.

Cars driven by Homer Kleinknecht of Galion and Walter Williams, 25, of near Galion, collided on route 19 about seven miles west of Galion at 4:20 a. m. Wednesday. Apparently the Williams car skidded into the Kleinknecht car, the state highway patrol reports. Both car were damaged.

MACKENZIE

A glance at your maps will show that Greece ... intrusts down from the Balkan peninsula ... into the Mediterranean to the west of the Dardanelles, thereby providing a powerful base either for defense of the strait or for operations against it. At this writing Greece, like Turkey, is in the camp of the western democracies and so is a bulwark safeguarding the status quo of the Dardanelles. Russia for very obvious reasons want to gain domination of Greece as a stepping stone to control of the strait.

That brings us up to current developments. The Greek monarchy has been fighting for its life against Communist rebellion which a United Nations commission of investigation found was being fostered by Russia's satellite nations bordering Greece — Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. It long has been a foregone conclusion that the rebels would establish a Communist state" at earliest possible date. This, when recognized by the Communist countries to the north would permit them to render more aid to the rebels in the effort to overthrow the Athens government.

IT'S A GRAPEVINE operation which the Reds project. If the new government can hang on, we may expect to see a great intensification in the assault against the monarchy. Should that be overthrown it would immediately be replaced by a Communist government affiliated with Moscow like all the other Balkan states excepting Turkey. Then would come fresh pressure to force Turkey to concede Russia's demands in the Dardanelles.

The leader of the Red rebellion is one "General" Markos Vlfiades, who is said to be a capable leader and a good organizer. Thusfar he seems to be carrying the site of his capital about in his hip-pocket. Fierce fighting is proceeding in northern Greece near the Albanian and Yugoslav frontiers, and the 'general' has succeeded in keeping the whereabouts of his headquarters—presumably seat of government—a dark secret.

VIFIADES' PROCLAMATION of his new state brought quick repercussions in Athens. The government announced the rounding up of some 500 people in connection with a Communist-inspired plot to assassinate prominent Greek politicians, including former Premier Gonatas.

Should the Communist revolt in Greece meet with success, it would create a grave situation, and the question naturally arises as to what the attitudes of Russia and the western allies would be. That's an uncomfortable query, especially in view of the reputation the Balkans have of being the whelping ground of great wars.

However, I think we have a right to assume that the major powers on both sides of the controversy would tread most circumspectly. Neither Russia nor the western allies want another world war, and certainly all hands will go far to avoid one.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

THE 1948 breed of bachelor is going to be a difficult target for leap year lassies.

I've talked with a number of single men who say they are open to reasonable marriage proposals, but since 1948 is the year for the ladies to pop the question—they want it done right.

"Most guls are completely ignorant of how to propose properly," one young man said. "They are generally too bold or carefree about the whole matter.

Hal Boyle

"They forget marriage is a very serious thing, and a fellow in his right mind is going to say 'yes' to a flibberty girl who giggles when she asks his hand."

This halterless lad said he thought it would be a nice old-fashioned touch if his girl knelt as she asked him to plight her his troth.

"If they come to me I'll just tell them to get my father's permission first," said another bachelor.

The consensus was that they expected to be extremely careful about the whole thing and wouldn't be rushed off their feet by any headlong courtship.

Here are a few tips, however, that ought to enable any enterprising girl to land her man:

FIRST OF ALL, don't try to dazzle him into marriage by throwing your money away on him in a gay mad tour of pleasure spots. Mere gold will not buy an honest boy's love.

You must remember that bachelors are delicate and brooding, and they want to be sure they are a dependable girl and sensitive to their moods.

When you call on your bachelor for your first date, try to win his confidence. Bring along a good book or a box of cigars—little presents like these let him know you want to please him.

Intimate gifts like underwear or shaving lotion should be avoided until you know each other better, and the family has come to understand your intentions toward him are truly serious.

WHERE TO TAKE HIM? Well many young men don't like to huddle in dark smoky night clubs of questionable repute. It is better to begin by taking him to a movie or treating him to an evening of good clean fun in the neighborhood billiard parlor. Let him beat you a couple of games just for fun. He'll love you for it.

Be sure to get him home early. When you drop him at his door, don't try to kiss him. It will only alarm him and make him think you do that with all the other boys, too. A slight pressure on his warm little hand as you part will show your friendly interest.

Naturally as you get to know him better he will become more responsive, and in time the consideration you have shown will stir him to show his affection in his own boyish way.

It is now time to talk to him about your prospects. Let him know how much money you are making and convince him you both can live on it. If you own an electric washer mention that. He will be interested in all the details.

THE BEST PLACE to propose to him is on the sofa some night when his parents are away. Look deep into his eyes, hold his hand—and then just pour your heart out to him in simple terms. Tell him life is meaningless to you without him.

To clinch it, show him the two boat tickets for Bermuda you've bought for the honeymoon. Then fold the big trembling goof in your arms, sister—he's yours forever!

SITES PROPOSED FOR MAUMEE RESERVOIR

By International News Service

DEFIANCE, Dec. 27—Six possible reservoir sites have been tentatively mapped by Army engineers for a proposed Maumee river conservancy district flood control program.

All of the sites were reported today to be on headwater streams rather than in flat lands. They are designed to let the waters in the lower reaches of the streams get away before the headwaters swell them to flood stage.

The suggested sites:

1—On the St. Marys river in Mercer and Auglaize counties, north of St. Marys.

2—On the St. Marys river in Mercer county and the south edge of Van Wert county, near Rockford.

3—On the St. Joseph river in Williams county at Montpelier.

4—On the St. Joseph river near Edgerton and Blakeslee, extending to the Indiana line.

5—On west branch of the north edge of Williams county and extending into Michigan, and

6—On Cedar Creek in Allen and DeKalb counties, Indiana, midway between Auburn and Ft. Wayne.

Two-Edged Canal

THE Republic of Panama has taught itself a pair of lessons by refusing to renew arrangements for U S. military bases in its territory. These bases are needed for protection of the Panama canal.

Prompt withdrawal from them proves that the United States has no intention of playing bully in Latin America. That's one lesson. The era of arm-twisting is over. The era of the good neighbor has begun.

The other lesson is speculation about the sites for another Isthmian canal. Nicaragua has come back into the picture. A site in Mexico is also being mentioned. Panama has no monopoly on sites

The United States won't build another canal without good reason. But a hostile attitude in Panama could become a good reason There is much to be said in favor of a second canal, and Panama's whimsical retreat sovereignty will be the signal for saying it.

The republic has shared in the benefits of this historic project. It can continue to share in them if it understands that it has responsibilities that can't be dodged. The Panama canal without adequate defense would become a wartime liability. Panama must help provide an adequate defense.

Wallace Home To Roost

HENRY WALLACE is coming home to roost next Monday night. His cackle will be bad news for Mr. Truman and what's left of the New Deal coalition that ran the country after March, 1933.

The coalition made Wallace what he is It took him into the cabinet to get his followers. But it got Wallace, too, and that was a bad bargain. Even so, in 1944 the coalition still considered making him the sucessor to a dying chief executive and almost got away with it.

After that, Wallace's prestige dwindled. Under Mr Truman, it finally dwindled so far it seemed safe to turn him out of camp. But Wallace had one card left to play—a split that would lead his followers out of camp with him in the next presidential election.

He has been leading up to this for a long time. His Monday night speech probably will contain an announcement that he will head a third party next year.

No sympathy is extended. This is politics, the same kind that planted Wallace in the cabinet in 1933, the same kind that kept him in the limelight and almost made him president. He is about to demonstrate the consequences of what happens when a political party sacrifices principle for votes. The New Deal coalition bought Wallace's followers at too high a price in 1933. The bill now is payable in full.

The Phantom State

GREEK Communists haven't revealed where the seat of their government is. Probably it is a phantom state, because northern Greece's guerrillas have no city of importance and draw their strength from Albania and Yugoslavia.

The Communists' announcement has a familiar ring. The new state will combat "foreign imperialists and their Greek lackeys," and military operations will proceed to free the country from "foreign enslavement." Greek or Russian, the words are the same.

The Greek Communist leader, Gen. Vlfiades, is on the same stripe as Tito, Groza, Gottwald, Dimitrov, Pauker and the other Communist opportunists who have come to power in eastern Europe. He is hanging on by his fingernails, just as Tito, Groza and the others were until unsettled conditions, plus Communist terror tactics, brought them to power.

There are stories from Greece, some from reliable American correspondents, that $4,500,000 worth of American supplies have spoiled in an Athens warehouse, and that another $75,000,000 worth is undistributed while hunger spreads. Bungling on the part of the Athens government and American officials in Greece could change the phantom state into a very real government—one which would sweep from the north like a wolf on the fold.

This Can't Go on Forever

RESPONSE to the offer to reinstate veterans' national life insurance has been so poor that the renewal deadline has been extended again—this time to July 31. This is the fifth time the deadline has been set ahead, but obviously it cannot be postponed indefinitely. The veteran who is planning to reinstate his policy now has ample time to return to good standing by paying two months of premiums.

More than half of veterans' insurance has been allowed to lapse. The government has been liberal in extending renewal opportunities Those who neglect to have their policies reinstated may some day regret having dropped what is probably the cheapest insurance they'll ever be privileged to buy.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

A Bid for Moderate Left-Wingers' Support.

MR. TRUMAN'S economic brain trust, consisting of Edwin G. Nourse, Leon H. Keyserling and John D. Clerk, has again produced a sort of Alice-in-Wonderland document which was undoubtedly written by the ghost of Harry Hopkins. A political document projected in a political year, it denies economic truth in order to win away from Wallace his labor and his not ultra-left-wing contingents. These great minds were appointed to deal with economics, not politics, but the necessities of elections force even scholars to debase their thinking to catch the votes. Demagoguery does not wither on the vine of scholarship and objectivity fades in the lust for power and pelf.

SOKOLSKY

If you try to read the report, you will find such a paragraph as this

"It (acceleration) will simply advance the time when we shall have to face the problem of what price, income, and property value adjustments have to be made to strike an internally consistent or stable equilibrium." Puzzling as it is, the equilibrium doctrine is merely a leveling concept to shift the distribution of the proceeds of production in such a manner as to reduce the income on capital investments until in the end, the government, whether through such an agency as the RFC, or by means of subsidies, or by accelerated employment because of war, or through socialism, takes over the industry of the country. When Governor Dewey, in 1944, repeated time after time that President Roosevelt had to have a war to solve the problem of unemployment, he described one of the results of such policies as the president's current economic advisers advocate. The New Dealers survived Harry Hopkins.

Presenting the Facts

Socialists are usually over-optimistic as to their capacities. They have to be because they believe that governments can do anything, that the elite, those who know because a college says they know, can do anything. Contrasting with the Nourse document is an editorial in the "Electrical World" which comes up sharply with the facts. This trade paper is discussing the Marshall plan in terms of its own industry and it raises this point:

"Thus, in 51 months, 16 nations many of them ravaged by war and the remainder of small account industrially, pledge themselves to supply, about 22,500,000 KW of power equipment. This pledge is made seriously, no doubt, for it is, in effect, a character reference supporting a request for billions of dollars in United States relief and rehabilitation funds.

"However, this pledge may be tested against the rigid standard of a comparable U. S power program, now in full swing. In the United States, we have allotted 60 months for our matchless industrial machine—strengthened, not ravaged, by war—to manufacture 15,000,000 per cent less than these 16 nations, and giving ourselves almost a year longer in which to do it."

Measured by Prices

I cite these paragraphs as an example that the expertness of the professors and statisticians has to be tempered by the common sense of technical knowledge and experience. Nourse says:

"In any composite of salutary policies, none is so significant as the achievement and maintenance of real price competition, which means the lowest price consistent with a fair return in a stable economy rather than the highest price that the traffic will bear in an unstable economy."

The council disagreed with "prominent leaders in business and public life (who) have proposed that the standard work week be lengthened from 40 hours to 44 or even 48 hours."

Obviously, these professors disagree with Bernard M. Baruch, who emphasizes production and more production as our basic need. Baruch will undoubtedly answer that when he appears before a congressional committee, if it still remains important when he gets around to it. He may even ask them what they mean by a "stable" and an "unstable economy." The last time any American knew a "stable economy" was before the crash in 1929 Since then we have lived in emergencies and war, under political controls designed to keep a party in power by putting an enormous part of the American people on the public payroll. Is that a "stable economy?"

There'll be a lot of merchandise changing hands today . . . but not many cash registers ringing.

That's because Santa Claus has more generosity than taste.

There is an old saying, "Never look a gift horse in the mouth," but it does not apply to Christmas presents.

And so, today, Momma—who was flattered when Poppa presented her with a frilly, size 14 negligee—will go down defiantly to swap it for something practical which will fit.

And the Old Man, who took on over his Christmas neckties—he thought it was the egg-nog which was blinding him—will be around to swap them for something a little more sincere and a little less Sinatralsh.

Only the toy departments aren't worried with after-Christmas swapping . . . Most of them are torn up before the stores ever open.

The Little Darlings

By Frank Tripp

"TURK" is one of my five grandchildren. He's three years old. He was playing with a cart and to his thinking was doing some quite remarkable stunts.

The inevitable "now watch me" came from him repeatedly while his grandmother and a friend conversed obviously on the porch.

Finally, disgusted by his apparent unimportance, he drew the cart to the steps, plunked his hands on his hips and yelled:

"Girls, will you watch me"

From the two "girls" he immediately got the desired attention.

His brother Steve, has an Indian trait, that of expressing things strangely but adequately. Matter of fact he's an Indian in other ways; such as barely missing scalping me a couple of times.

To Steve a wheel, a crank or any revolving thing for years was a "round-go"

There is a high waterfall back of our house. It has always intrigued Steve greatly His name for it, "water-down-stairs"

Teddy, another grand offspring, just outgrown a high chair, was hoisted to the dinner table atop two volumes of Encyclopedia Britannica. His cousin Steve came along side to snitch a piece of Teddy's cake.

"What you littin' on books for?" asked Steve.

"Cause I like to read," replied Teddy.

Steve's father does an admirable job of keeping his children conscious of God. His grandmother camps interestingly, to herself at least, on bees and flowers. Apparently both have adequately bored the youngster.

One day the grandmother said to Steve, "Come on, let's have a little visit"

"All right," said Steve, "but not about God."

Just when grandma was having a lot of fun repeating that retort, Steve took the wind out of her sails.

He said to his father, "Daddy, tell me a story—and I don't want to hear any more about bees and flowers."

Little Denny, Peggy, Bonnie and Baby Ward O'Hara summered down the street apiece. Everything that happened, the others always blamed on Denny.

Their father taught the three eldest to sing that grand old Irish masterpiece, "Who Threw the Overalls in Mrs. Murphy's Chowder?"

Performing one evening for amused guests, they had just started their act with their song's momentous question when, from the top of the stairs, though he was supposed to be asleep, came the answer from Wee Waldie:

"Denny did."

Granddaughter Polly pulled one off the hook we have never forgotten. Polly would say, of anything that pleased her, "It happies me so much."

"Oh, the happiness of childhood! If it could forever be.

I was intently boring into world troubles as chronicled on the first page of my Sunday paper. The little darlings came up with the funnies to be read to them. I put them off for the moment. They didn't like the delay.

Dismayed by my interest in a dull black page with so much vim and color at hand, Teddy asked, "What does it say there, Frank?" They all call me Frank. We let them learn from others that I'm their grandfather.

"It says," I told them, "that foolish grownups like me are getting ready to kill their children just when they reach the bloom of life; with a world of happiness and hope before them.

"It says that greed and lust for power, the intolerance of one people for another and silly statesmanship are the curse of the unhappy world into which you are embarking.

"It says that children like you will just about reach the age of ability to do so when they'll be asked to go forth and kill each other All because men are fools—as cruel as the beasts that stalk the jungles—and much dumber."

They didn't understand me—thank God!

Daily Bible Thought

Our faith is not a philosophy, but a series of guide posts directing us to a better way. We shall arrive somewhere. Idlers get nowhere but in a bog of confusion —James 1:25: "Being not a hearer that forgetteth, but a doer that worketh, this man shall be blessed in his doing."

Christmas seals were invented by a Danish postal clerk, Anton Holmboe, in 1903, as a source of revenue for an anti-tuberculosis society, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Their use spread to the other Scandinavian countries and to the United States.

The Zone of War—II

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON.

THIS was a Christmas when there was no peace on earth and precious little good will among men The peoples long for peace. Yet hardly more than two years after a terrible world conflict, the aggressive policies of the Soviet Union have again brought the world into what is technically called "the zone of war." And one of the few Americans whom all can trust, Secretary of State George C. Marshall, has just indirectly but frankly admitted that, for the present, there is no use trying to negotiate a settlement with the Soviets.

It is worth seeking to understand why this should be so If the experts are correct, the best place to begin is at the ultimate source of Soviet policy. The motives, mechanics and methods of Soviet policy making are another subject on which most of the experts of the Western powers have been at least induced to agree among themselves. The events of recent months have produced near-unanimity too the following analysis:

ALSOP

The source of Soviet policy is the Politburo. In the hands of this small body of men, all control of the Soviet Union is concentrated. Its members have risen to their present lonely eminence by ruthless struggle, by iron determination, in cutthroat competition against uncounted rivals. Secret conspiracy was the first life experience of the older members. And since the establishment of the Soviet regime, all have been engaged in a perpetual contest, in which the prize was absolute power, and the penalties for failure were exile, or imprisonment, or death. None has even seen much of the outer world. For many years all have been self-confined in the incredible isolation of the Kremlin—the triple-barred citadel within the walled fortress of the Soviet Union. All of them, furthermore, are high priests of a new world faith, international Communism; and while cynical realism is common enough among powerful ecclesiastics, even the Borgias were not atheists.

The Mistake of War Time

The mistake that was made in war time was to assume that these men were not very different from Western leaders—to suppose that they could be appealed to by the same arguments and convinced by the same marks of good faith, as Ernest Bevin and Anthony Eden, Secretary Marshall and Senator Vandenberg Yet even in war time, there were already warnings

One such warning was the conversation between Stalin and Eric Jonnston.

Speaking with all the authority of the Dalai Lama interpreting scripture, Stalin firmly assured the horrified successor of Will Hays that the whole non-Soviet world would be plunged in ghastly depression after the war. The episode was comic. Yet the expectation of such a depression, drawn from the Marxist holy books, is the present foundation of Soviet policy. Economic misery is counted upon to weaken the West and give the Kremlin its big chance.

Again, it was something of a warning when Stalin remarked to a high American official that the works of Machiavelli were his favorite reading. Machiavelli is, after all, the classical analyst of politics as a naked struggle for naked power. This also is the method of Soviet post-war policy. And finally there was still another very grave warning indeed Stalin showed clear signs, at more than one of the great war-time conferences, of being deeply convinced by obvious horror stories about his western allies, which had obviously been manufactured by his intelligence nets.

Strange "Facts"

Here, of course, is another factor, which influences Soviet policy probably more deeply than the policy makers' life experience of ruthless struggle, or their Marxist indoctrination. The decisions of the Politburo must be based on facts, as facts are known and understood in the Kremlin. But war-time intercepts of Soviet diplomatic dispatches, the Canadian royal commission investigation and other evidence have now established beyond doubt that facts reach the Kremlin in fantastically distorted shape.

We are dealing with a system whose leaders embarked upon a program of aggression as the natural result of their life experience, and have been confirmed in this program by the peculiarities of the system. That is why mere negotiation is hopeless. As Secretary Marshall has indicated, there is only one way out. The Politburo must be confronted with western unity and western strength too great and too unshakable to be concealed or misinterpreted or ignored. Then the Politburo may alter the policy which is endangering world peace. Such at least is the working theory of the Western leaders.

Japan Wants Tourists

By The Associated Press

TOKYO—The Japanese government wants to lure tourists back to Japan—particularly free-spending Americans.

It is considering a program to spend 3,000,000,000 yen rebuilding and modernizing hotels and the transportation system to draw the tourists, who once provided Japan with a major source of revenue.

Officials hope 200,000 tourists a year can be attracted and believe closer relations with the United States as a result of the occupation will help to draw Americans.

The Be-Kind-to-That-Tree Movement

The Elmer Twitchell Post Christmas "Be Kind To Your Christmas Tree" drive is on again in season. The idea is to let the tree stay up a little longer, dismantle it with less unnecessary roughness and dispose of it more tenderly.

* * *

Trees in the gutter, on ashheaps, on rubbish dumps and strewn all over the landscape a few days after Christmas make Elmer see red. There are a sad commentary on the depth of human attachments, he thinks, and a year ago he began the drive for a little less nonchalance in disposing of them

PHILLIPS

"To see a tree that symbolized life, devotion and the hope of the world one week tossed out like an old piece of junk the next is a pretty sad sight," says Elmer. "Of course a tree has to be taken down and disposed of but let's not give it that old abrupt hard-boiled brush off stuff.

* * *

"I would scratch from the human race the twirps who toss Christmas trees into the gutter It is like asking your grandmother over for the holidays and then snoving her down the elevator shaft. Giving trees the old heave-ho onto the ash or rubbish pile is almost as bad.

* * *

"Act as if you were still conscious of a Christmas tree's service to mankind. Remember next week that only a few days back it brought wonderment to the eyes of little children, bringing to young and old a blessed warmth of spirit A tree is a symbol. It brought into the home the spirit of holiness with the shepherds and the wise men and of Joseph and Mary and the Infant Child Every branch glistened with light and sparkled with ornaments blending together to give the glow of the Star that shone over Bethlehem.

* * *

"I don't care how old you were this Christmas you were taken back to your childhood by the tree So don't treat it like an old bum. Dismantle it tenderly. Take it down with some of the love with which you put it up. What to do with it

* * *

"Well, use your own judgment but just don't be in a sweat to get rid of it and don't act like you were trying to toss it for distance. I put mine out on the rear porch right side up for a couple of days Then I move it down against the side of the garage and stick it in the ground I like to see it there a few weeks Sometimes I keep: fine all winter and I once had one take root and grow.

* * *

"Huh? It won't take root? Except by miracle? Well, what could be closer to miracle than a Christmas tree?"

War on Common Cold

A physician has taken his colleagues to task for their "contempt" of the common cold and urged a program of mobilized research to find a cure for this disease that costs America $1,000,000,000 a year.

This expert in nose and throat ailments, Dr Noah D Fabricant, of Chicago, said he believes the answer to the problem of the common cold could be found if scientists mobilized their efforts in a program.

Writing in the American Journal of Medical Sciences, Dr. Fabricant said there were three main peaks of incidents of the common cold each year He listed them as in October and November, the second peak in January, and the third in March and April.

"The degree of susceptibility and resistance varies from one individual to another and from year to year," he said. "A certain degree of immunity develops as a result of a cold, but its short duration, not more than several weeks or months after an attack."

Dr. Fabricant said numerous attempts have been made to develop a vaccine but that all have failed. He said today physicians treat the common cold with contempt—the same as in ancient Rome.

"Although organized science has succeeded in the solution of atomic energy," he said, "it has not solved the riddle of the common cold

"The discovery of atomic energy was made possible because men who knew most about their specialities convened and pooled their knowledge. Whereas in the past fundamental discoveries have been made by isolated workers devoting their leisure time to research, present day experience indicates that most progress comes from the cooperative effort of individuals having training and background."

He said that "most research men, if the truth be stated bluntly, have been wasting precious time, effort and money by pursing their individualistic bents in isolated laboratories, clinics and hospitals."

Dr. Fabricant said the time has arrived for mobilization of efforts in a program, financed either by the federal or private sponsorship or both.

The Next Chapter

A Sermonette

By REV. EMIL C. KLUTEY

Pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Malachi 3:16—"A book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord."

* * *

THIS book which I hold in my hand is open at the beginning of chapter 15. Let us suppose that we have read the first 14 chapters, and that we are now ready to start on chapter 15. Let us also say that you are 14 years of age and that now you are in your 15th year. We will let each chapter in this book represent one year you have lived. We have read 14 chapters in this book and you have lived 14 years.

We are beginning the new year of 1948 just as we are about to begin a new chapter in this book. We have just finished chapter 14 and are about to go into chapter 15. We have just finished the year 1947 and we are now ready to go into the year 1948.

If we have read the first 14 chapters of this book we should know what is in them, and know the story up to that point. You also know the story of your life these past 14 years. Of course, you do not remember when you were a baby, but you no doubt remember the day you first went to public school and to a number of other special events.

When you were born your parents welcombed you into their home. Their home became your home. They cared for you very carefully and lovingly. You caused them much work, but your parents did not mind because they loved you. You were a gift from God to them. That is right—you came from God. God has given you your life. Only He can give life. We cannot give life to a flower, a tree or a shrub. Only God can do that. Only God can give life that is in you; only He can make your heart beat and your lungs breathe.

In the 14 years you have lived, some very unexpected things happened to you. When you were very small, you did not know that when you touched a hot stove it would burn you and give you pain. You did not know that one day as you climbed that tree you would fall and hurt yourself. Yes, many things happened to you in these fourteen years, and all of them should have made you stronger and better.

You know the story of the first 14 years of your life just as we know the story of the first 14 chapters of this book. But we do not know how the story of this book will continue in the fifteenth and all the following chapters because we have not read them. We do not know how the story will end.

We are beginning a new year like a new chapter in this book. We do not know what the year 1948 and all the following years will have in store for us. Much will happen to us that we did not expect. Some of it will be pleasant and some very unpleasant.

We cannot know the whole story of this book until we come to the end. We do not mind coming to the end of the story if it has a happy ending. There are still many chapters in this book to be read before we come to the end. Perhaps you are very young, and the next chapter of your life, the year 1948 is before you, and very likely many more years. Like the book, your life will have an end here upon earth. It may be a very happy end. That depends on you. Whether the story of your life will have a happy ending depends on how well you live in 1948 and all the following years.

NINE MAROONED IN LABRADOR RESCUED

By The Associated Press

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass., Dec. 27—Seven American airmen and two Canadian weather observers, marooned on a frozen Labrador lake since their B-17 Fortress force-landed Christmas eve, were safely back in Goose bay today after a four-hour, 20-minute rescue flight.

Officers at the Atlantic division headquarters of Air Transport Command here said radio messages reported the men were in good shape and apparently suffered little from their two-day vigil on Barren Lake Dyke.

Their rescue was accomplished yesterday by a ski-equipped, jet-propelled plane piloted by Lt. Colonel Emil G. Beaudry of Manchester, N. H. The distance from Goose bay to the downed plane is 275 miles.

In the rescue plane with Beaudry were Lt. Colonel Richard C. Kugel, command pilot, and commander of the base at Narsarssuk, in southern Greenland, from which the Fortress had taken off on a Christmas mail delivery mission to Baffin island outposts.

J. B. Cleghorn of Montreal, one of the rescued civilians, had been stationed as weather observer at the Baffin island area. He praised the work of the rescue crew and said the marooned men could have held out indefinitely as they had warm clothing and food.

The letter was signed by Wilson W. Wyatt, former housing expediter and now a D. A. chairman; Leon Henderson, former price control chief, chairman of the executive committee; Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and Hubert H. Humphrey, mayor of Minneapolis, vice chairmen.

OBERLIN COMES TO AID OF NAMESAKE

By The Associated Press

OBERLIN, O., Dec. 27—In the French mountain village of Waldersbach a minister several weeks ago wrote a letter, telling of his fellow townsmen's terrible need for clothing to keep out the winter cold.

Pastor J. M. Beltrando of Le Presbytere church sent his letter to authorities at Oberlin college, and for an especial reason.

For it was at Le Presbytere where John Frederic Oberlin, Lutheran minister, educator and idealist, preached in the latter 18th and early 19th centuries, and the town and school here were named after him.

Rev. Beltrando can rest easier now. Townspeople and faculty members at Oberlin already have donated 600 pounds of warm clothing in response to a strenuous drive.

And, said Oberlin's Vice President Harold S. Wood today, the 2,200 students may take part in the project after they return from the Christmas holidays.

The drive itself got going pretty quickly. First a dry goods store volunteered the use of its basement as a collection place. Then the material started piling up.

There was a feather bed, a fur coat, children's shoes, flannel pajamas, sweaters, overcoats, blankets and men's suits. Said Wood "I've never seen anything like this response. Many of these are brand new."

All this, Wood said, will be expressed to American Aid to France, Inc., in New York, where it will be repacked, insured and sent to Waldersbach on a French vessel.

And Pastor Beltrando, he said, will distribute it all to whoever needs it.

Homer Napper, 25, of 142 E. boulevard, injured early Christmas morning when struck by passing car while he was attempting to flag down traffic, was hit again by a second car driven by Randolf Forry of near Mt. as was reported to The Star yesterday.

Forry apparently swerved to avoid hitting Napper, who was lying in the road receiving first aid treatment, and ran into Napper's car, which was parked nearby, the state highway patrol reports.

City hospital today reported Napper's condition as fair.

The tile floors in the Capitol at Washington have been in place for more than 90 years.

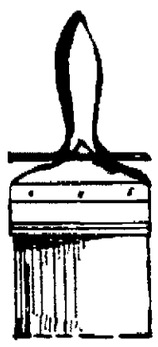
Ceiling Work—How To Do a Difficult Job.

...individual who has attempt-...replaster, repaint, or refin-...ling in any manner is well ...of the fact that the oper-...one of the most difficult ...household jobs or under-... As a rule, the amateur ...p with more paint or cal-...on his hands, elbows and ...g, than he has been able ...ly to the ceiling. Due to ...t that all liquids have a ...d tendency to flow down-... ceiling work has always been ...welcome task to the profes-...painter as well as to the ...me mechanic; for the reason ...either paint or water-solvent ...ons insist on running down ...handle of the brush, rather ...to run up-hill, and settle ...ne ceiling overhead.

...be that as it may, there has ...been established a formula for ...g overhead work with either oil paint or water-solvent compounds, which will enable the average individual to do a neat and clean job on a ceiling without spattering the furniture or the floor below.

The first step is to use a good brush with long, soft bristles. The second step is to cut a circle or disc of heavy cardboard about four inches in diameter, and cut across through the center so that the handle of the brush can be passed through the disc. This will furnish a hilt much like the hilt on a sword. Between this hilt and the bristles of the brush; a dry cloth should be wrapped which will absorb the fluid which normally will run down the handle of the brush. When this cloth wad has become soaked, it should be discarded, and another dry wrapping placed between hilt and bristles.



Actual test has proved that you can paint for a quarter of an hour without renewing the cloth wad, and provided that you are working in fairly rapid speed, you should be able to cover 100 square feet in that period of time. If you are working with an oil paint and are careful about the dipping of the brush, you may be able to work for a longer period with ease.

One of the drawbacks to ceiling work is the time-honored necessity of removing all the furniture in the room to avoid damage to the upholstery, or at least shift it from side to side of the room. By using the method described above, all the furniture may be left in place. One old sheet or blanket, spread immediately beneath the area of operation, is enough to guarantee protection.

In the case where you want to refinish or freshen-up a ceiling without recovering the wells, you should attach a sheet (or newspapers pinned together) immediately below the picture molding, with thumb-tacks; so that any stray drips will be caught.

When you are using oil paint, do not dilute it; but apply it as it comes out of the container. When you are using water-solvent paints, have the solution heavy and full-bodied. Never dip a brush in either for more than an inch; wipe the brush on the edge of the can; and stand the brush up every once-in-awhile so that the bristles will drain.

By following out these instructions, you can do a neat, clean job, of overhead painting without spattering or dripping. The procedure may well take a half-hour more of time than a slap dash job, but there will not be two hours of washing to be done afterward.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

House Sways in Windstorms

Q.: Could you suggest any reason why our house sways and makes such creaking noises in windstorms? Also, the floors creak quite a bit when walked on. The plaster is cracking worse and worse all the time. The siding on the east and south side of the house is badly cracked, and is loose on the greater part of the house. I think the solution would be to re-side the house and renail the sheathing also. Could you give us an idea of what it would cost to do such a job per square foot?

A.: I believe the house is not sufficiently braced to withstand a heavy wind. The construction must be weak. The best thing to do is to have a reliable building contractor examine the house and do whatever he considers necessary to strengthen it all over. I doubt if residing and renailing would be enough to stiffen the house. I am sorry that I cannot quote prices on such a job.

Rusty Metal Icebox

Q.: Our metal icebox is rusty. What kind of paint do you think we should use on it? The box is metal and white.

A.: If the box is now painted with white paint or enamel, soften the old finish by washing with a hot solution of trisodium phosphate or washing soda, used in the proportion of 3 pounds to the gallon of hot water, or a cupful to the quart. Scrape and wipe off the paint, and then rinse very thoroughly to make sure of removing every trace of the solution; otherwise your new paint will fail. Wipe dry, and sandpaper lightly to give the metal a slightly rough surface to which the new paint can make a tight bond. After dusting off, apply two coats of enamel undercoater and a finish coat of enamel. Do not paint the inside of the icebox, for the smell of paint would be likely to get into the food. If the inside part is rusty, clean it with a steel wool, and then rub with a non-smelling vegetable oil or else a petroleum jelly.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

What Exercise a Heart Patient Should Take

One of the most frequent questions put to me is how much exercise—if any—should the person with heart disease take?

This is a difficult question because there is no one hard-and-fast answer unless it be that, for such people, exercise, like medicine, must be on a prescription basis; that is, it must be fitted to the condition of the particular individual—the severity of his heart damage, how long it has been present and, perhaps, the amount of exercise he has been used to in the past. The only person able to weigh all these things is the physician in direct charge of the patient.

Certain principles for general guidance can be stated. In the first place we should all understand that physical exercise in itself does not cause heart disease. Exercise may, however, bring it to light. For example, if a person has some heart disease of which he is unaware, and overexercises, he may develop such symptoms as extreme shortness of breath, or heart failure may occur with edema or a collection of fluid in the tissues.

Over-exercise may make heart disease worse. On the other hand, the proper amount of exercise, carefully controlled, can improve the heart and build up the health and strength.

Every person who has heart disease, should, first of all, have a careful study made by his physician, including an X-ray examination, to determine whether or not the heart is enlarged, and an electrocardiogram or electrical tracing of the heart action, to determine the type and degree of heart muscle damage that has occurred. After such a study has been carried out, the doctor can decide just how much exercise may safely be taken.

Many people who have had attacks of coronary thrombosis caused by the formation of blood clots in one of the blood vessels which carries blood to the heart muscle, think that they must avoid exercise of all sorts, and actually become invalids. Not only is this unnecessary, but it may really be harmful.

After a person recovers from an attack of coronary thrombosis, scar tissue remains in the heart muscle. To over-exercise in such case might cause heart failure, but properly controlled exercise, which does not lead to discomfort or shortness of breath, is harmless and, in all likelihood, beneficial.

Now and then elderly people get the idea that they can take just as much exercise as they did in their youth. They think that strenuous exercise keeps them fit, whereas, it only invites trouble.

Persons with high blood pressure should exercise moderately, again avoiding any exercise which leads to discomfort, such as shortness of breath.

A good rule to remember in every instance is not to exercise to the point of discomfort or fatigue.

I cannot emphasize too strongly that if you have a heart disturbance you should remain under the care of a physician. When he with full knowledge of all the facts plans a program of exercise, you can be certain that it is safe.

O.S.U. Official Pleads Innocent to Assault

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 27—Allen L. Meyer, 43, secretary of the College of Commerce at Ohio State university, today pleaded innocent to a charge of feloniously assaulting a 14-year-old boy.

Police Judge Fred L. Donnally, continuing the case until Dec. 31, increased Meyer's bond from $500 to $10,000. Meyer was unable to provide the bond immediately and was placed in jail.

Dr. Howard L. Bevis, president of the university, declined to comment on the case.

Police said that Meyer, who was a major in World War II, met the boy in a theater and induced him to go for a ride.

Meyer was arrested, police records showed, by radio cruisermen last Tuesday night when they became suspicious of an auto parked near a city dump. Police said a boy was in the machine with Meyer.

3 London Boys Find Santa in Texas Cowboy

By The Associated Press

LAMARQUE, Tex., Dec. 27—Three little London boys who wrote "to a Texas cowboy" may bring their parents here to live.

Their letter, prompted by reading stories of the old west, was published in the Mainland Times and Publisher Orlando Blackburn wrote the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Payne for permission to have the boys visit Texas.

Mrs. Glen Weber sent Frederick, 11, Leonard, 8, and Skipper, 7, cowboy bluejeans and shirts.

Then someone suggested bringing the family here to live.

Mrs. Weber offered to donate land and contributions have reached $300. About $500 more will be needed.

FASTEST FLIER ON HOME FIELD. Into the home "stratosphere" soars 8-month-old Michael Yaeger as his father, Capt. Charles Yaeger, hoists him aloft after purportedly breaking the supersonic barrier by flying a rocket-engine plane at almost 900-miles-an-hour. Mrs. Yaeger and Donald, 23 months, are there, too, for a happy holiday in Rosamund, Calif. Washington reports say that Yaeger made his historic test flight for the U. S. Air Force in a small Bell XS-1, taking off from Muroc Field, Calif.

MEE'S PAL RETURNS. Arriving by plane at Chicago from Havana is Charles Jackson Jr., who was recently freed of a charge of complicity in the slaying of John Lester Mee by Patricia "Satira" Schmidt. Jackson was on Mee's yacht in Havana Harbor at the time the Chicago attorney was shot to death.

Argument Leads To Slaying of C'loan

By The Associated Press

NEW BOSTON, O., Dec. 27—A 42-year-old plumber was held in Scioto county jail today in the shotgun slaying of his 67-year-old crippled father-in-law during an argument over a radio set, Prosecutor Marvin Kelly reported.

Kelly identified the man as Bennie Cantrell of New Boston and said he was arrested by Sheriff's Deputies Matt Wamsley and Ray Leach after a three-hour search of the hills between New Boston and Wheelersburg, eight miles away.

The slain man, he said, was Sam Jones.

No charge has been filed against Cantrell.

Chief Sheriff's Deputy Burl Justice said Cantrell admitted shooting his father-in-law with a double-barreled shotgun in the kitchen door of the Cantrell home and said he had been drinking. Justice said the slain man's widow and daughter, Cantrell's wife, were witnesses.

SAY NOT ENOUGH PARDONS

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27 — Two leaders of the Society of Friends say they believe President Truman "stopped short" in pardoning 1,500 draft violators. Clarence E. Pickett, executive secretary of the American Friends Service committee, and Harold Evans, said in a statement yesterday the President should have included members of the Jehovah's Witnesses religious sect and those who objected to war service on philosophical and ethical grounds.

SNOWFALL

by lines of stalled automobiles, buses and trucks, bumper to bumper, stretching block after block.

The city's gala night club life was stifled by the transportation snarl. At midnight only eight patrons were present at the usually noisy and gay Monte Carlo club while the headwaiter at the swank Stork club said business was "knocked out."

Unusual Broadway Scene

Broadway theaters and motion picture houses reported business off from 25 to 75 per cent and Broadway itself was virtually lifeless.

The emergency remained so great that officials announced at city hall late last night that the mayor's emergency board has arranged to meet today to determine steps needed to meet the crisis.

Thousands of commuters sought hotel rooms in the city overnight or resigned themselves to sleeping at terminals.

A possible shortage of fuel was seen by coal and oil dealers who urged householders with sufficient fuel for at least five days not to ask further deliveries until streets are cleared. Food deliveries while reduced, were expected to be adequate.

All available firemen were assigned to round-the-clock duty and Fire Commissioner Frank J. Quayle said last night that the city faced the "gravest emergency" in the history of the fire department.

"Our streets are practically impassable," he said.

Snow Blown Into Drifts

A rising wind, which reached 30 miles an hour during the afternoon, began shifting the dry snow into new drifts that further clogged surface transportation.

Stalled cars, left in the fender-deep snow, blocked main highways out o fthe city, cutting it off from suburban vehicular traffic.

The Uplaski Skyway and U. S highway No. 1 and the Newark Turnpike, main traffic arteries south from New York were impassable.

The eastbound tube of the Lincoln tunnel was closed to traffic for two hours as the result of a minor accident at its entrance.

An Expensive Experience

The burden of paying for the huge snow removal job was of particular concern to city officials. They estimated the bill might come to between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000. The amount appropriated for snow removal for the entire winter was $1,285,688, and of this $750,000 had been earmarked to pay for wages and materials.

AUXILIARY ELECTS

Mrs. Gladys McDougal was elected president of the Marion lodge of Grand International auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Wednesday afternoon at the American Legion dugout. Mrs. Matilda White was elected vice president; Mrs. Clara Oswalt, secretary; Mrs. Mary Kunkler, treasurer; Mrs. Jennie Ewing, chaplain; Mrs. Elda Evans, guide; Mrs. Winina Conwell, sentinel; and Mrs. Alma Eddy, trustee, and Mrs. Addie Jacobs, relief secretary. Installation will be held the fourth Wednesday in January, at which time a covered dish supper will be held for members of the men's organization and the auxiliary.

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

"Body and Soul" Plays at Palace

"Body and Soul," co-starring John Garfield and Lilli Palmer and introducing a newcomer, Hazel Brooks, will be shown Sunday through Tuesday and also at the Wednesday matinee at the Palace theater.

The picture, an account of the story behind a pugilist's championship and retirement, is based on an original screen play. The story traces the ups and downs of a successful middleweight fighter, his troubles with managers and gamblers, and the struggle between his chivalrous sweetheart and a designing night-club entertainer for his heart and soul.

Added attractions will include RKO's "Football Highlights of 1947," the Academy Award winning cartoon of 1947, Tom and Jerry in "Cat Concerto," and the latest news.

The New Year's eve attraction which will also continue for showing through Tuesday will be Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour in the newest of their "Road" pictures, "Road To Rio." Featured in the film are Gale Sondergaard, Frank Faylen, the Wiere Brothers and the Andrews Sisters.

The travel-laugh film is reported to be the funniest of all the three stars' adventures in hilarity. Bing and Bob are seen as a couple of footloose musicians, Bing a clarinet player and Bob a whiz with the trumpet. The two men are down to their last buck and are forced to do carnival work. When they manage to wreck the place, as only they can, it becomes urgent to leave the country in a hurry.

They stow away on board a luxury liner bound for Rio. Their adventures on shipboard and in Rio revolve about their endeavors to free Dorothy Lamour from the plotting of her guardian who has designs on Dotty's fortune. Before Bing and Bob are able to accomplish their purpose they are involved in all kinds of escapes, a duel and a wedding fiesta at which they are the targets for some wild tricks.

Joan Crawford Starring at Ohio

A romantic drama "Daisy Kenyon," starring Joan Crawford, Dana Andrews and Henry Fonda, now is playing through Wednesday at the Ohio theater.

Adapted from a best-seller by Elizabeth Janeway, the story deals with a successful career woman whose love for a legal tycoon puts her in the hopeless position of "the other woman." Realizing this, she determines to make a break and on the rebound turns to another. But her marriage does not break the ties of her old love, and she finds it next to impossible to choose between a rich and polished New York lawyer and the lanky but adoring ex-GI.

Starting New Year's day will be a lively technicolor musical, "My Wild Irish Rose," starring Dennis Morgan and Andrea King and featuring the new actress, Arlene Dahl.

"My Wild Irish Rose" tells the story of the musical life of Chauncey Olcott, played in the film by Dennis Morgan. Arlene Dahl is seen as his girl friend, Rose, and Andrea King played Lillian Russell. Most of the Irish musical numbers in the picture reflect the period of American vaudeville at the turn of the century.

"Welcome Stranger" At Marion Theater

"Welcome Stranger," a down-to-earth human story of life in a typically small New England community and "Key Witness," a film of love, murder and greed, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

The former, co-starring Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald, together again in a film, and Joan Caulfield, is a story of a carefree young doctor, played by Bing Crosby, and his struggle to overcome the resentment of a small New England town and its old general practitioner, Barry Fitzgerald, toward his unprofessional approach to medicine and the town. It shows how Bing is soon taken into the hearts of the people of the community. "Key Witness" tells of a hen-pecked architect, addicted to inventing gadgets, who becomes involved in a murder when he throws a party while his wife is away and his girl companion is murdered.

Billed as a double feature for Tuesday and Wednesday is "Man of Conquest" and "Wagons Westward." Starred in the former are Richard Dix and George "Gabby" Hayes, and heading the cast in the latter are Chester Morris and George "Gabby" Hayes.

"The Last Round-Up" starring Gene Autry, and "Merton of the Movies" with Red Skelton and Virginia O'Brien are to be shown Thursday through Saturday.

"Merton of the Movies," a comedy production, tells of Merton Gill, a stage-struck movie usher, who leaves the security of the small town of Tinkerton Kan., to go to Hollywood to become a success.

Alexis Smith And Carey Grant at State

"Night and Day" starring Cary Grant and Alexis Smith, and "Shootin' Irons" with Dave O'Brien and Jim Newell will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State theater.

Billed as a double feature for Tuesday and Wednesday is "It's Great To Be Young" and "Code of the Lawless." The former stars Leslie Brooks and Bob Stanton and heading the cast in the latter are Kirby Grant and "Fuzzy" Knight.

Robert Alda, Andrea King and Peter Lorre are the starring players in "Beast With Five Fingers," the main attraction of a double feature playing Thursday through Saturday. Completing the billing will be "Panhandle Trail" with Buster Crabbe and Al "Fuzzy" St. John.

DR. STANLEY NAMED VIRUS LAB DIRECTOR

By The Associated Press

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 27—Appointment of Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, one of America's leading scientists, to establish and direct a great new laboratory for virus research at the University of California was announced Friday.

Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, university president, said the virus laboratory would compare in its field to the famous radiation laboratory of Dr. Ernest C. Lawrence in the realm of physics. Dr. Lawrence's cyclatron in the hands of many researchers pioneered a substantial part of the work which led to atomic energy.

Dr. Stanley, 43, heads a virus laboratory for the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research at Princeton, N. J. Like Lawrence, he is a Nobel prize winner—in 1946 for his work in stripping viruses of some of their mystery.

He will take over his new job next July.

Stanley was the first to isolate a virus in pure form. This was in 1935, when he separated out the virus which causes the mosaic disease in tobacco plants. From these viruses he cleared up on mystery of long standing.

The original habitat of the wild turkey stretched from New England to Florida and westward to the Dakotas and southward from Ontario to southern Mexico.

Ted Williams, New York Yanks Led Assault on 31 A.L. Records

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 27—Ted Williams of Boston and the New York Yankees collectively led the assault on records during the 1947 baseball campaign as American league teams and players combined to establish or tie 31 marks.

Williams, who snared the batting crown with .342, broke a major league record by leading in runs scored for the fifth successive season of competition. He tied two major league marks by drawing the most bases on balls for four years in a row and by taking the rather negative honor of playing in 150 games or more without stealing a base.

TED WILLIAMS
Red Sox Batting King

Sixteen of the total marks were registered on sparkling defensive play. Hitting, pitching and general league records accounted for the others.

The outstanding records for the league as a whole were its .977 fielding average along with the fewest errors committed in one season, 1,080. The Cleveland Indians were charged with the fewest bobbles in league history, 104, and posted a new team fielding percentage of .983.

New York monopolized the club honors with six, such as most times in smashing three home runs in an inning (14); most years leading the circuit in homers (28); most years belting 100 or more homers (24) and the winning of 19 consecutive games.

Slugging Champ

In nabbing the most individual honors, Williams was certified as the official 1947 slugging and runs-batted-in champion in addition to winning the hit title. He was the only batter to drive in more than 100 runs during the season, being credited with 114, and topped the loop's sluggers with a .643 clip.

The lanky Red Sox outfielder, who had to face defensive alignments, such as the "Boudreau shift," amassed 100 or more RBI's for the sixth straight season and also drew 162 walks, only eight shy of Babe Ruth's all-time mark. He drew more bases on balls than any other player for the fourth consecutive campagin.

Williams' teammate, Bobby Doerr, grounded into 15 double plays to take the dubious honor of being the pitchers' choice when men were on base. Don Kolloway and Rudy York of Chicago were second in this department by hitting into 22.

Small Phil Rizzuto, Yankee shortstop, was hit most often by pitchers, eight times, and Philadelphia's Eddie Joost headed the pack in being fanned 110 times.

In addition to Williams, these other players tied or set records:

Major League Records Broken

Lou Boudreau, Cleveland — highest fielding percentage at shortstop (season), .982.

Henry Majeski, Philadelphia—highest fielding percentage at third base (season), .988.

Major League Records Tied

Ferris Fain, Philadelphia—participating in most double plays in a game at first base, 6.

Edwin Joost, Philadelphia—participating in most double plays at shortstop in one game, 5.

Upsets Featured 1947 Basketball Season

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Collegiate basketball enjoyed its greatest season since prewar days. Practically every section produced strong teams and the campaign abounded with upsets which carried right on down to the final tournaments last March.

The only teams to retain sectional titles were Kentucky in the Southwest conference and Wyoming in the Big Seven.

ARNOLD FERRIN
Sparked Victorious Utes

In the National Collegiate Athletic association final, Holy Cross upset Oklahoma, Big Six champion and western playoff winner, 58-47. In the national invitation final in Madison Square Garden Utah defeated highly favored Kentucky, 49-45.

A few of the outstanding collegians were Arnold Ferrin and Vern Gardner of Utah, George Kaftan of Holy Cross, Gerald Tucker of Oklahoma, Ralph Beard of Kentucky, Bob Gabor of Syracuse, Ernie Vandeweghe of Colgate, Don Barksdale of U.C.L.A., Kevin O'Shea of Notre Dame and Bob Cook of Wisconsin.

The college games drew so well in the Garden that 29 dates were assigned to the collegians for the 1947-48 campaign.

In the professional ranks the Philadelphia Warriors won the first playoff in the new Basketball Association of America, turning back the Chicago Stags, 83-80, to win the championship, four games to one. The Chicago Gears won the crown in the National league.

In AAU competition the Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., captured their fifth national title in succession.

BLUE-GRAY GRIDDERS IN 10TH CLASH TODAY

South Picked To Win by One Touchdown.

By The Associated Press

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 27—Lacking the big name stars of previous years but still packing plenty of power, rival teams from above and below the Mason-Dixon line clash here today in the 10th annual Blue-Gray football game.

Post-season bowl dates snared many gridiron greats who otherwise might have been on the rosters, but the 24-man teams included sturdy lines and air-minded backfields nevertheless.

Ed Gaynor of Denison (Ohio) is a probable starter at right half for the North.

Observers pick the South as a one - touchdown favorite, and here's how they say they figure it:

The teams are well matched, with the North having a slight edge in the backfield and the South the stronger forward wall. In a game with light running attacks, the best line usually makes the difference in victory or defeat.

Fearless Fraley's Facts and Figures

By OSCAR FRALEY
U.P. Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—The efficiency of married football players is being questioned in the South, even though 14 of Georgia's 44-man 'Gator bowl squad are benedicts.

One prominent southern coach asserted that he had turned thumbs down on a trio of fine grid prospects because they were married.

Most of the mentors list these objections:

1. Married players have too much on their minds.

2. Family men come higher than bachelors.

3. Single boys can be quartered in dormitories.

4. Bonuses in the form of refrigerators and washing machines are difficult to obtain.

It stands to reason that as the war vets leave school things will get back to normal. Then all that the coaches will have to worry about will be cornering talent, keeping it under control and maintaining eligibility . . .

That will take football back to the "smart" era. Like the old days when the coach accompanied a fullback find up for entrance exams and the question was:

"How much is three and three?"

"Four," replied the football prodigy.

"Please give him another chance," pleaded the coach. "After all he only missed by one." . . .

* * *

BASEBALL MANAGERS are divided on the question of whether a manager can do his club the most good sitting on the bench or riding the coaching line. There are any number of different reasons for preferring the trail of the "linesome pine."

Leo Durocher prefers the bench because he claims he gets a better picture of the whole field. Bucky Harris of the Yanks asserts that the coaching box is for coaches, but not managers. Ben Chapman of the Phils gets more to the point.

"When I'm on the coaching line my players' minds wander from the game," he insisted. "When I'm on the bench they keep their thoughts on the game."

* * *

CHARLEY GRIMM of the Cubs likes the third base box "where I can help my boys come around from third to home." . . . They'd all stand on their head on the upper deck if it would win a pennant . . . .

Boxing managers have a favorite line which goes: "Get in there and punch. They can't hurt us." But Bud Cook, the famed hockey star now running the Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey league, found out it's different on the rink. He was safe on the sidelines—when struck on the cheek by a flying puck . . .

From Florida comes the story of a man who killed an Alligator and while skinning it heard a ticking noise. An incision brought forth a running watch which, judging by corosion, had been in the 'gator about a year. Asked how the watch could have been running after such a long time, the man explained that the winding stem lodged against a rib and everytime the 'gator breathed it wound the watch . . .

And you fishermen think you can tell whoppers!

Fire Dept. Provides Service for Its Boss

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27—Fire Chief J. H. Alderson and his family were unwrapping their Christmas gifts Thursday when some one noticed neighbors squirting water from a garden hose on the Alerson roof.

The chief took a look, then called the fire department. Flames, believed to have been started by a chimney spark, destroyed the roof with a loss Chief Alderson estimated at $3,000.

EAGLES, CARDS SET FOR TITLE BATTLE

Chicago Given 10-12 Point Edge in Sunday's Tilt.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 27—The Philadelphia Eagles and Chicago Cardinals held final dress rehearsals at Comiskey park today and the rival coaches reported both squads were near peak condition for the National Football league championship engagement tomorrow.

Jimmy Conzelman's Cards, favored by 10-12 points, were ready with a terrific one-two scoring threat with the combination of fullback Pat Harder and halfback Charlie Trippi being in top shape at the same time for the only time this season.

Both have been handicapped with injuries throughout the campaign and never have been able to go at full steam together. Tackle Caleb Martin and end Frank Ivy will be out of the Cards lineup tomorrow, but guard Buster Ramsey is ready for action after missing four games.

The Eagles have had to operate with key men on the crippled list, but Coach Earle (Greasy) Neale said today that with the exception of halfback Noble Doss, who has two fractured ribs, the squad is in fine shape.

During the 12-game regular season, the Cardinals averaged 25.5 points per game and limited opposition to 19.2. One of their nine league victories was a 45-21 decision over Philadelphia. They also beat the Eagles 38-21 in an early exhibition. Neale's outfit averaged 25.6 points and gave up 20.1 to the opposition.

U. S. C. Fears Another Deluge in Rose Bowl

By BILL DECKER
Associated Press Newsfeatures

PASADENA, Calif.—Michigan's magical Wolverines, who ran neck and neck with mighty Notre Dame all season in the national ratings, face a test in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

The question is not whether the Big Nine champions will defeat Southern California, but whether they can do it as convincingly as the Irish did.

Hopes Ebb

Pacific Coast Conference Rose Bowl hopes ebbed to a new low as the Trojans were slaughtered, 37-7, by the tremendous Notre Dame machine Dec. 6. It was the worst shellacking in 19 meetings between the great rivals and gave the South Benders a commanding grasp on the mythical national crown.

All Michigan has to do to keep the grid fanatics arguing around the hot stove all winter is beat USC by 31 points.

Midwestern experts who were here for the SC-Notre Dame game rated Notre Dame as probably more powerful than the Wolverines, but gave Michigan the edge in trickery and speed. Which spells W-O-E—if not another debacle—for the Trojans.

This will be Michigan's second trip to the Rose Bowl. The Wolverines—Willie Heston and Co.—pulverized hapless Stanford, 49-0, in the Rose inaugural in 1902. That still stands as the worst trimming in the 33 games played at Pasadena.

PAUL CLEARY
SC's All-America End

Recent history doesn't make the Trojans feel any better, either.

Last New Year's Day, as the five-year pact between the Big Nine and Coast conferences began, Illinois whacked favored UCLA all over the field for a 45-14 win.

On Jan. 1, 1946, the Trojans fell before Alabama 35-14, for SC's first defeat in nine Rose Bowl contests.

Until then, Troy—six times under the late Howard Jones and twice under Jeff Cravath, present coach—had been invincible in the Arroyo Seco saucer. USC's victories ranged from 47-14 and 35-0 thumpings of good Pittsburgh teams to a last-minute 7-3 conquest of Duke.

Big 9 Can Be Had

The Big Nine (alias Big Ten) can be had in the Bowl—although you have to go a long way back to discover it. California's Golden Bears drubbed Ohio State, 28-0, in 1921. Before the Illinois visit that was the last Big Ten team to play in the Bowl.

Michigan Coach Fritz Crisler, after witnessing Notre Dame's rout of USC, professed to see great strength in the Trojan line and declined to make any statements about the Rose Bowl.

Most observers conceded that Bob Chappuis, Bump Elliott and their Wolverine mates would say it all Jan. 1.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—Wanted: A heavyweight meal ticket that hasn't been punched. Apply at Mike Jacobs' office, Madison Square Garden. . . . That ad appears indirectly in the first couple of boxing programs arranged for the new year at the Garden. . . . Joe Louis has been talking about retiring in 1948 and if he does—or, even worse, if he should lose to Jersey Joe Walcott—Uncle Mike and his dependents wouldn't know where their next million dollar gate was coming from. . . . Hence three heavyweight bouts have been carded for Jan. 2, with Jackie Cranford of Washington and Bernie Reynolds of Fairfield, Conn., at the top and a week later Sweden's Olle Tandberg will be unveiled against Joey Maxim. Besides Cranford and Reynolds, who have split the decisions in a pair of clashes and who are regarded as two very promising youngsters, next week's card sends Gino Buonvino of Italy against Gene Gosney of Seminole, Okla., Fidel Arciniega of Spain against Tommy Gomez of Tampa, Fla. . . . It doesn't sound too exciting, but this writer can remember when a fellow from Germany named Max Schmeling made his debut on one of those fill-in cards. A year and a half later Max was champion.

HOLY CROSS athletic authorities can't quite understand why they haven't heard from Bill Osmanski since he was offered the head football coaching job at terms which apparently were satisfactory . . . Some International league observers maintain that Virgil Stallcup, who is expected to be a key man in Cincinnati's infield next summer, is just "good" and is far from being a great shortstop.

Kramer Loses 1st Pro Tennis Match to Riggs

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—Amateur champ Jack Kramer lost his first match as a professional tennis player but he was the hero of the 15,114 spectators who turned out for the event in Madison Square Garden last night in spite of the worst snow storm in New York's history.

Bobby Riggs, an experienced pro tennis trouper, defeated Kramer 6-2, 10-8, 4-6, 6-4. It was a best three out of five match.

The result was pretty decisive and probably the only bright spot from Big Jake's viewpoint was the affair was a complete sellout. The crowd contributed to a gate of $55,730.16, the largest in pro tennis history, giving the backers of the 65-match tour a good start toward the $50,000 they guaranteed Kramer for his first year.

6-Foot-9 Gopher Center Leads Big 9 Scoring

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 27—Jim McIntyre, Minnesota's 6 foot 9 inch center, tightened his hold on the Big Nine scoring lead today after wrecking California with a 32-point output.

McIntyre wheeled in 15 field goals and two charities as the Gophers handed the Bears their first loss of the season with a 60-56 decision at Berkeley last night. The two teams meet again tonight.

MEXICAN FIGHTER NOW WILLIAMS' NO. 1 FOE

By The United Press

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 27—With his Feb. 20 bout against Bob Montgomery cancelled by Montgomery's retirement from the ring, lightweight champion Ike Williams said today that he considered Enrique Bolanos of Mexico his No. 1 challenger.

Williams said he hoped to meet Bolanos in New York "soon."

The lightweight champion knocked out the Mexican star two years ago, but Bolanos has compiled an excellent record since then.

Montgomery, who lost the championship to Williams by a knockout Aug. 4, announced his retirement yesterday in order, as promoter Herman Taylor said, to avoid "being punched around."

"Montgomery's retirement came as a complete surprise to me," said Williams.

BW Cagers Only Ohio Winners, Bucks, Miami, John Carrol Lose

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 27—Ohio's collegiate basketballers concentrated today on out-of-state foes in a three-game and one tourney card highlighted by resumption for the second straight night of hard-court warfare between Ohio State and the University of Washington.

A fourth scheduled game—the University of Connecticut at Akron university—fell victim of an eastern seaboard snowstorm and will be played next Monday night.

In other contests North Carolina State meets Cincinnati at the Ohioans' home court, Case journeys to Rochester and Miami university continues to play in the N.A.I.B. joust at Kansas City.

The University of Washington's balanced scoring Huskies outlasted Ohio State, 61-55, last night, after many of the 4,533 customers thought a first-half Buckeye "swallow" made a basketball summer. Ohio State led, 30-25, at halftime.

B-W Stays Unbeaten

Unbeaten Baldwin-Wallace, currently just about the hottest item in Ohio cage circles snowed Quantico Marines, 76-55, and DePaul nipped John Carroll, 54-52, in a Cleveland double bill last night, while at Kansas City, Miami fell before Beloit (Wisconsin), 73-49.

The agile antics of towering Jack Nichols, six-foot, six-inch Huskie center, really put the blocks to Ohio State.

Nichols counted 15 points to lead the pack, but he was pressed offensively by three teammates—Bill Taylor and Sammy White, each with 14 points, and Bob Jorgenson with 10.

For awhile in the first half, it looked as though Dick Schnittker was going to scorch a path to victory for Ohio State. He counted five field goals out of his first six attempts, but was held scoreless for the last half with only three shots attempted.

After the halftime, the touring Huskies quickly sniped out a lead, were tied at 38-all, went ahead only to be tied at 45-all, and then broke loose a third time never to be headed.

Washington, now holding two triumphs in four games against Big Nine outfits on its current road trip, hit for 15 out of 38 field goal attempts in the last half.

Record Broken

That Cleveland arena individual scoring record was broken again as Baldwin-Wallace's Ed Hrivnak counted 28 points in pacing his Yellow Jacket mates to victory, their seventh consecutive verdict.

Guard George Leddy of DePaul swished two free shots home in the final second of play to give the Demons their one-point margin over John Carroll.

The Wisconsin lads really shellacked Miami at Kansas City. They led, 20-5, after 10 minutes and 31-18, at halftime. It was Miami's second loss of the season.

DICK PRESTON, scrappy 175-pound Miami guard will start for the Redskins against Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Texas, Jan. 1. Miami leaves for El Paso via plane today.

Bird-McGinnis Cagers Defeat Harding Flashes

Fielding only a four-man team, the newly organized Harding Flashes held the Bird-McGinnis quintet to a 10-10 tie in the first half, but trailed in the second half to lose, 41-28, in their initial basketball game at the Y.M.C.A. last night.

Ralston led the Legion five with 14 points, while Rodenberger and Fox each netted 12 for the Flashes, composed of high school players not on the school team but anxious to play basketball.

The Legion team will play the National Guard at 8 p. m. in the Armory Monday night.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—Scattered stocks remained in the plus ranks of today's market although many leaders edged downward in one of the slow sessions of the year.

Handicapped by the lack of clerical help due to the heaviest snowstorms in the history of New York, the exchange board of governors did not decide until the final five minutes to open the market. As it was, boardrooms were virtually deserted by customers and only a smattering of floor traders appeared for business. Most transactions came through the wire houses from out of town. Thoughts of further deflation moves by Washington inspired much of sparse selling that eventuated.

The ticker tape frequently was at a standstill after a sluggish opening. Declines of fractions to a point or so predominated near the final hour.

Resistant were Lockheed, Paramount Pictures, Owens, Illinois, Dow Chemical, Western Union, Deere, Westinghouse Electric, Woolworth and United Air Lines.

INJURED PILOT SUES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—The pilot of the Lockheed Constellation which crashed at Shannon Airport, Eire, a year ago has filed a $360,000 damage suit against Trans-World Airlines, Inc., charging that the plane's altimeters were improperly installed. The pilot, Capt. Herbert W. Tansey, 34, of Falls Church, Va., said in the suit—which was filed in district court yesterday—he lost a foot as a result of the crash, in which 12 persons were killed. He also claimed that he received inadequate medical attention after the accident.

CORRECTS ERROR. Passing her preliminary citizenship test, Mrs. Stella Lewandowski, 58, takes the oath from deputy county clerk Sanzari in Hackensack, N. J. Mrs. Lewandowski, a widow who lost three sons in World War II, mistakenly thought she was an American citizen by virtue of her husband's papers. The discovery that she was not a citizen was made when she sought to join the American Gold Star Mothers, Inc.

I have my problems just the same as you do. Some people want me to deliver their paper one place, others want it in some other location. I try to please them all.

I am a little business man, in business for myself. I buy my papers at wholesale, paying for them each week, and sell them at retail, the difference is my profit and working capital.

I am the sole judge of whom to extend credit to.

If you don't pay me, I can't pay for my papers, I lose my profit, and become discouraged.

I collect each Saturday morning, help me by paying each week and should you not be at home at my regular collection time leave your money and card where I can get it.

Thanks,

HOLIDAY BRIGHTENED BY SALVATION ARMY

Christmas Baskets and Gifts Given To Less Fortunate.

Grocery orders, clothing and other necessities, toys and gifts were distributed in homes of the city's less fortunate families by the Salvation Army, thereby making the Christmas holiday a happy one. The gifts were made possible through the generosity of residents of Marion and the community, through contributions to the kettles and gifts from organizations and individuals.

One-hundred one grocery orders were distributed and Adjutant Mary Nisiewicz and her staff investigated 72 families and turned over the list to Boy Scouts and other organizations.

Distributed by the Army were four pairs of shoes, one pair of galoshes, a ton of coal, 10 articles of clothing and 1,426 gifts of toys, fruit and candy. In addition 613 sunshine baskets were distributed to the City hospital and city and county institutions.

On Monday night the Junior Legion, made up of children from the Glenwood school district, held a Christmas party at the Army hall with an attendance of 321 and the community Christmas party on Tuesday night was attended by approximately 300 children and adults. At the community party gifts were distributed to the children by Santa Claus.
